

Free family film showing of “Where the wild things
are”
and music workshop

THEATRE CLWYD, MOLD
Saturday February 20th 2010 at 2.00

To help us celebrate our 30th year
Come and enjoy an afternoon watching a film and enjoying a music workshop.

An afternoon where families, who usually find it difficult to attend the cinema together, can enjoy a family outing. We have sole use of the theatre so there is no need to worry about unexpected interruptions! During and after the film we will be holding an informal musical workshop hosted by Colin and Tim who have experience of working with children with disabilities.

“The worry of a child crying or behaving inappropriately just wasn’t there –it was only after I got home that I realised I hadn’t been stressed and indeed none of the other families seemed stressed either. I’m sure this rubbed off on the children. It was a real treat for the whole family”

We request a £5 refundable deposit per family to secure your place.
There will be no tickets distributed for this event. Please turn up unless you here otherwise!
Please book by Friday February 14th

Please pass on this information to anyone you know who may be interested –we need a good attendance to make this a successful event
